

What's your Bryn Mawr Story?

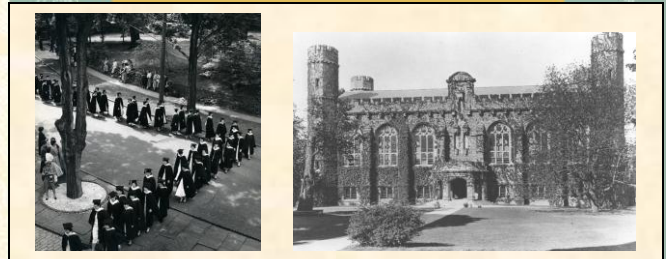

Create a digital story with
The Albert M. Greenfield Digital Center for the History of Women's Education

The Albert M. Greenfield Digital Center for the History of Women's Education is a digital portal hosted by Bryn Mawr College to provide resources on women's past experiences of education in the US and worldwide.

Ever thought of recording your thoughts on your experiences at Bryn Mawr College? Still have mementos, diaries, photos, posters or other items from your time as a student? Would you like to preserve and record these items? If so, you may be interested in creating a digital story at your next alumnae chapter meeting. Perhaps you'd like to share why you chose Bryn Mawr College? What were your surprises or challenges? How has your Mawter experience shaped your life in subsequent years? Was going to a women's college an important decision for you?

Promoting Scholarship, Teaching, & Discussion on the history of women's education

A digital story can be created in 3 easy steps:
(1) Collect the items that best represent the narrative you'd like to create
(2) Create a script of what you would like to say
(3) Digitize the materials and record your story with the help of the Center Director

Visit the website to find out more
<http://brynmawrcollections.org/greenfield/>